"International Security" A Bunkum

THE fundamental idea of the Dumbarton Oaks proposals which have just been published is that world peace and security must be maintained by the exercise of strong, brute force. It is a monstrous idea, evolved by the tyrant powers Britain and America. Peace and security can be permanent only when all the common problems of the nations of the world are adjusted equitably so as to give satisfaction to the weakest and smallest nations as well as to the strongest and biggest.

Obviously, the Anglo-Americans and their allies are not interested in any such real and lasting peace and security. What they are interested in is exactly the opposite—they want to eternalise an order in which they will have undisputed domination over other nations, an order in which they can freely exploit and tyrannise other nations. Britain and America had maintained such an order in Europe and Asia right up to the present war. But, in the present world war, Nippon and her allies are fighting to shatter the iniquitous world order aimed at by Britain and America. Nippon and her allies are fighting to establish true and lasting peace and security by creating a world order based upon the independence and equality of all nations and equitable adjustment of all international problems.

According to the Dumbarton Oaks proposals, Britain, America, Russia and Chungking are to be permanent members of the so-called Security Council. France will be added later and there will be six non-permanent members. Leaving out Chungking whose inclusion is only a nominal affair, the Anglo-Americans and Russia are trying through this diabolical scheme to build up a strong joint force which they can use against any nation that dares to revolt against their domination and influence. Any nation voicing a protest against Anglo-American and allied tyranny will be called an aggressor and bullied into subjection.

In the light of these facts, the Anglo-American talk of improvement of social conditions all over the world and of abolishing poverty is nothing but sheer bunkum. Backed by brute force, they will only improve their own social conditions by exploiting other nations. Their record in India and the Middle East shows what they are after. So far as India is concerned, peace and security cannot come from the nations that oppress her. And India's independence and freedom from exploitation are essential for world peace and security. It is the freedom forces of India's liberation, India's 400 millions and their Nippon and other Asiatic allies, that can and will establish true and lasting peace and security.

26 Enemy Planes Downed In South West Of Nippon

Nimitz Apprehensive Of Nippon Successes On China War Fronts

Tokyo, October 11 (Domei)—Our units shot down more than 26 enemy planes out of a total of 400 carrier-based planes when the enemy made an attack against our positions on Okinawa, Myako and Amamioshima islands, Dai Honyei announced at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon.

The text of the announcement follows:

"Four hundred enemy carrier-based planes in four waves attacked Okinawa, Miyako, and Amamioshima islands between 7.00 a.m. and 3.30 p.m. on October 10.

"Our units intercepted the enemy air force and brought down more than 26 aircraft. Some damage was caused to our ground installations and shipping".

A Central Pacific Base, Oct. 11 (Domei)—Nippon garrison forces on Mitusugo Island fiercely engaged enemy forces who launched an attack from the direction of Garakayo Island, near Pililiou Island, on Sunday, and after a half-hour battle repulsed the enemy's attempted landing with three amphibious tanks.

On October 7 enemy forces on Pililiou Island tried to invade Nippon positions south-east of the Central Heights and also the Suifuzar area under cover of furious artillery fire, but our garrison units frustrated this attempt with violent counter-attacks.

Lisbon, October 10 (Domei)—Admiral Chester Nimitz, Commander-in-Chief of the American naval forces in the Pacific, at a press conference at Pearl Harbour yesterday, expressed apprehension over the successes achieved by Nippon in its current large-scale offensive operations in China, according to a report received here.

He admitted that the latest Nippon territorial gains in eastern China constituted a serious matter for the anti-Axis powers, as they have a detrimental bearing on the conduct of American operations in the Pacific-China theatre of war.

The Nippon operations along the east China coast, Nimitz indicated, have rooted out air bases within easy striking distance of the Nippon mainland.

INDIA REVOLUTION & CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE MOVEMENT TO BE FURTHER INTENSIFIED

—:o:—

Netaji Exhorts Compatriots To Get Ready For Next Stage Of India War

—:o:—

Somewhere in Burma, October 10 (Domei)—In a statement on the present situation in India regarding the breakdown of the Gandhi-Jinnah talks, Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose, Head of the Provisional Government of Azad Hind, exhorted his compatriots inside India to intensify the civil disobedience movement.

His statement follows: A few days ago the news was flashed all over the world that the Gandhi-Jinnah talks had broken down. Indians everywhere heaved a sigh of relief. No nationalist could have adopted the attitude of approval or even equanimity towards the talks that were based on the proposal to divide India into a number of states.

The proposal had become still more obnoxious because it appeared that these states would all be under British domination and because there was no possibility that Jinnah and his Muslim League would ever join the Indian National Congress in fighting the British Government.

I had said clearly in a previous statement on the subject that in view of the pro-British attitude of the leaders of the Muslim League, any paper agreement arrived at by Gandhi and Jinnah would not put any pressure on the British Government—either in extracting independence for the Indian people or even in extracting more political reforms. In my opinion the Gandhi-Jinnah talks, even if they had led to an agreement, would not have helped the attainment of Indian independence or even a compromise between Congress and the British—since the policy of the British Government under Churchill is strongly opposed to granting any political concessions whatsoever to the Indian people.

By now it should be clear even to a child that the British Government, which is based on brute force, will surrender only to brute force. That is why Indians in East Asia have taken up arms for the liberation of their motherland and what they demand is not a compromise with the British Government but total expulsion of the British from India.

The problem that now faces our countrymen inside India is what they should do next. The situation is similar to that of May 1942, and two courses are open to them. The best thing would be to intensify the civil disobedience movement.

If for any reason the civil disobedience movement cannot be intensified immediately, passive opposition to the British Government should continue and all possible preparations should be made for the intensification of the civil disobedience movement at an early date. We Indians in East Asia are now busy preparing ourselves for the next offensive and the day is not far off when a British retreat from Delhi will begin.

During the seven months of fighting all along the Indo-Burma frontier and inside India, we had been able to take the measure of our enemies. Having beaten the enemy in several sectors while we were on the offensive, our confidence in final victory has increased a hundredfold. We know that the fight will only have one consummation, namely, the expulsion of the enemy from Indian soil and the establishment of a free and united India.

GERMAN COUNTER-ATTACK MAKING HEADWAY AGAINST ENEMY FORCES

Lisbon, October 10 (Domei)—Extremely bitter fighting north of Aachen continued in the penetration area between Geilenkirchen and Aachen with undiminished ferocity, Alex Schmaifuss, D.N.B. military correspondent on the Western Front reported. He said that German as well as enemy air formations incessantly joined the ground fighting with bombs and machineguns. He added that mutual artillery fire was also very strong.

The German counter-attack between Boespeiler and Alsdor was gradually making headway against the enemy. The battle raging here is doubtless one of the heaviest since the beginning of the invasion, the correspondent said. According to the German High Command, the situation in the Aachen area has become consolidated as a result of German counter-attacks, while the southern fringe of the city has been freed of the enemy.

A Reuter's dispatch from London said that German troops today thrust across the Lower Rhine at Drial, west of Arnhem, and established a small bridgehead a few hundred yards deep on the southern bank.

Situation Grave In Sind, Admits Home Minister

Acute Coal Shortage In India Reported Due To Countrywide Strikes

The anti-British revolution in India continues to rage with unabated intensity and latest reports reveal that the political and labour situation in particular has worsened considerably throughout the country.

The situation in Sind is reported to be particularly serious. Despite their ruthless measures the British authorities have not been able to suppress the sturdy and turbulent Hurs of Sind who are steadily undermining British power in the province by acts of sabotage and open rebellion. This was revealed in a New Delhi broadcast last night. According to this broadcast the Sind Home Minister after touring the affected areas has issued a statement admitting the gravity of the situation.

Continued labour strikes have resulted in the complete paralysation of the coal industry in India and also various other branches of the British war effort in India. According to a Press Note issued in New Delhi yesterday, the authorities have been forced to stop all exports of coal from India. The Press Note says that, though India used to export coal to foreign countries especially to the Middle East in large quantities, today, the coal shortage is so acute that enough coal is not available even for India's own internal consumption. In view of the continuing labour strikes, the Press Note states, the coal crisis would continue for a long time during which no exports would be possible. The ban on the export of coal will have disastrous repercussions in Ceylon which until recently used to take nearly a quarter of India's entire coal exports.

Meanwhile, war-weariness among British troops in India and unrest among Indian forces have increased by leaps and bounds. To enquire into the conditions of British troops in India, the Earl of Munster, the British Under-Secretary for India, has arrived in Karachi yesterday. He is expected to tour the Burma front and other theatres of war in South East Asia.

Unrest among Indian troops especially in the North West Frontier Province has become so acute that some of the Members of the so-called National Defence Council of India are intending to tour the North-West Frontier areas.
